

Sober

Room spinning head on fire
Here's what's left of my desire Drank the bottle made me higher
Now I'm coming down, hoping last night was a bad dream

Messages on my phone from numbers I don't recognize Sayin "I had fun last night" photos come up online
Flashes of yesterday are coming back to me

When the lights are flashin and there's smoke in the air and I feel like I can't breathe We're strangers in the darkness, liquor's got me trippin let you put your hands on me
Everything's a haze and I don't have the will to walk away
I had no discretion; it left me with the light of day

Now that I'm sober once again
I did some things I should not have Left my lipstick stain on one too many men
And now there's just regret

Cleaning up the mess I made
I live to see another day
Sleepin in the bed I laid
Now I can't face the victims of my lust

Try to make the world forget
The things I did that I regret time to put the rumors to rest
If I deny it all, will it make it go away?

The lights are low and there's smoke in the air
Your fingers running through my hair
We're lovers in the darkness
No one's gonna notice if you put your fingers there

Now that I'm sober once again
I did some things I should not have
I left my lipstick stain on one too many men
And now there's just regret
And now there's just regret
And now there's just regret
