

Just a Girl

I used to think that you were one in a million
I used to think you had my heart in your sights
I used to think you felt the same way about my love
That I was the only one you thought about at night

I used to dream about our future together
I used to look at long white dresses in the mall
But now I know you never thought about forever
You'd let me go if someone else came along

And if you think I'll let you treat me like I'm nothing
Then you better think again

I won't waste my time for something going nowhere
I won't miss you 'cause you're never really there
I'm done playing games if all you do is cheat me
Now I'm moving on and leaving you here

I won't let myself get tangled in your crazy
Soon you'll realize you're the oyster to my pearl
Find another if you think you can replace me
Now I'm gone... 'till I'm more than Just a Girl

I heard you tell your friends it wasn't serious
I bet most of them don't my first name
You still call me when you need someone to talk to
But won't pick up the phone when I need the same

Don't even bother telling me a bout your problems
From now on you're on your own

CHORUS

I'm a little naïve
For believing in you, silly me!
I guess I thought you would change
But I'm done making that mistake

I won't waste my time for something going nowhere
I won't miss you 'cause you're never really there

CHORUS
